George Stuart

Hinkle

Ann,

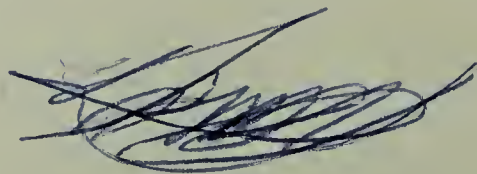

I really can't say enough about all the things we've said and done. All of them have been pretty good. The p.j. parties, the dates, the Tuesday downtown, the cadets (no offense intended), the time we went to Mrs. Lawless' home, and the chemistry class will all be fond memories. Then there were the 3rd floor bathroom morning scenes. I just looked at you writing so busily and I can't wait to read what you've written! What happens when you run out of ink? You sure have had your share of problems this year. I have something to say about that later on. Do you have to peel yourself in class? That sounds funny, but I'll never forget your falling asleep under the sun lamp. I can't believe you did that!

I sure hope we will see each other this summer, but with you going to New England, I don't see how we can. The Junior Variety Show was good, I'll admit, but still not as good as the class of '64's. The prom was also pretty good. That band, though, — Someone once wrote in my annual, "Work to be happy and work at being happy and happiness will evolve." I believe there's something in that. Be a model senior next year (I know you will) and do your best to have fun this summer.

Ann, there really isn't, cont. on back Sherry

Dear Ann,

Thanks a whole lot for the times in Fishburnes that your smile and good humor have cheered me up. Please be always the sweet girl I know and "don't give away anything that you can't get back".

They are standing in a line, facing away from the camera, looking towards a doorway in the distance. The hallway has a dark floor and a textured wall on the left. The lighting is dramatic, with strong highlights and deep shadows.

*We'll keep your standard

Walter J. Payne

We Honor . . .

Mr. Payne

The Senior Class of 1964 is proud to honor a man who has for six years given his time and effort to the education of Waynesboro High School students. He is remembered by students for his ability to state on exactly what page and what part of the page a certain fact is located; he is remembered by others for his willingness to help them in any way he can.

He received his Bachelor of Science Degree at Longwood College, being the first male ever to attend and to graduate from that school, and his Master of Arts Degree at the University of Virginia. His American History and Government classes will be long remembered by those of us who have had him as a teacher.

We'd like to wish him the best of everything in the years to come and to dedicate the 1964 SKYLINE to Mr. Walter J. Payne.

Our Principals

This year we see our two fine principals everywhere. We find them at the lunch line directing traffic, in the office signing admission slips, in the classroom observing progress, or merely having a friendly conversation with a student in the hall.

Mr. Johnson has been with us now for ten years, during which time he has seen the school grow in number, strength, spirit, and prestige. We, the students of Waynesboro High School, want Mr. Johnson to know that we appreciate his guidance and support during our years here.

This is Mr. Kiger's first year as Assistant Principal at W.H.S. He has the job of maintaining discipline, co-ordinating extracurricular activities, and accounting for student attendance. We welcome Mr. Kiger to W.H.S. and hope that his years here will be as happy as ours have been.

The social studies courses help the students of Waynesboro High to comprehend the world as it is, as it once was, and as it is becoming. Through the study of geography, history, and government, students can acquire knowledge and develop appreciation of cultural, political, economic, and social conditions and changes of the United States and the world. Some of the subjects dealt with include: the Civil War, American diplomacy, Greek city-states, Communism, Southeast Asia, Jacksonian Democracy, The Roaring Twenties, feudalism, the New Deal, and political parties. Students won't soon forget WORLD WEEK, SENIOR SCHOLASTIC, NEWS-WEEK, or Richmond-Times movies which are used in the study of current events. Filmstrips, book reports and reviews, research projects, map studies, guest speakers, movies, field-trips, and panels are many of the activities found in social studies classes. Let's hope the students of Waynesboro High are more aware of their citizenship in local, state, national, and world communities due to the social studies program.

Physical Education

The physical education program in high school aims to teach the student to understand and use the body as a means of experiencing ideas, attitudes, and emotions through sports, dances, stunts and games. It strives to develop and maintain in the student the highest level of physical fitness and efficiency for meeting the demands of wholesome living. The department also wants to develop the student as an individual and as a member of a group. By promoting interest in worthwhile recreational activities, the student is taught to become proficient in using the skills essential to successful participation in these activities.

These aims are carried out in Waynesboro High School by the use of team sports, individual and dual sports, folk games, physical fitness exercises, track and field, and stunts and tumbling. Personal care and safety is taught through the First Aid and Driver Training classes.

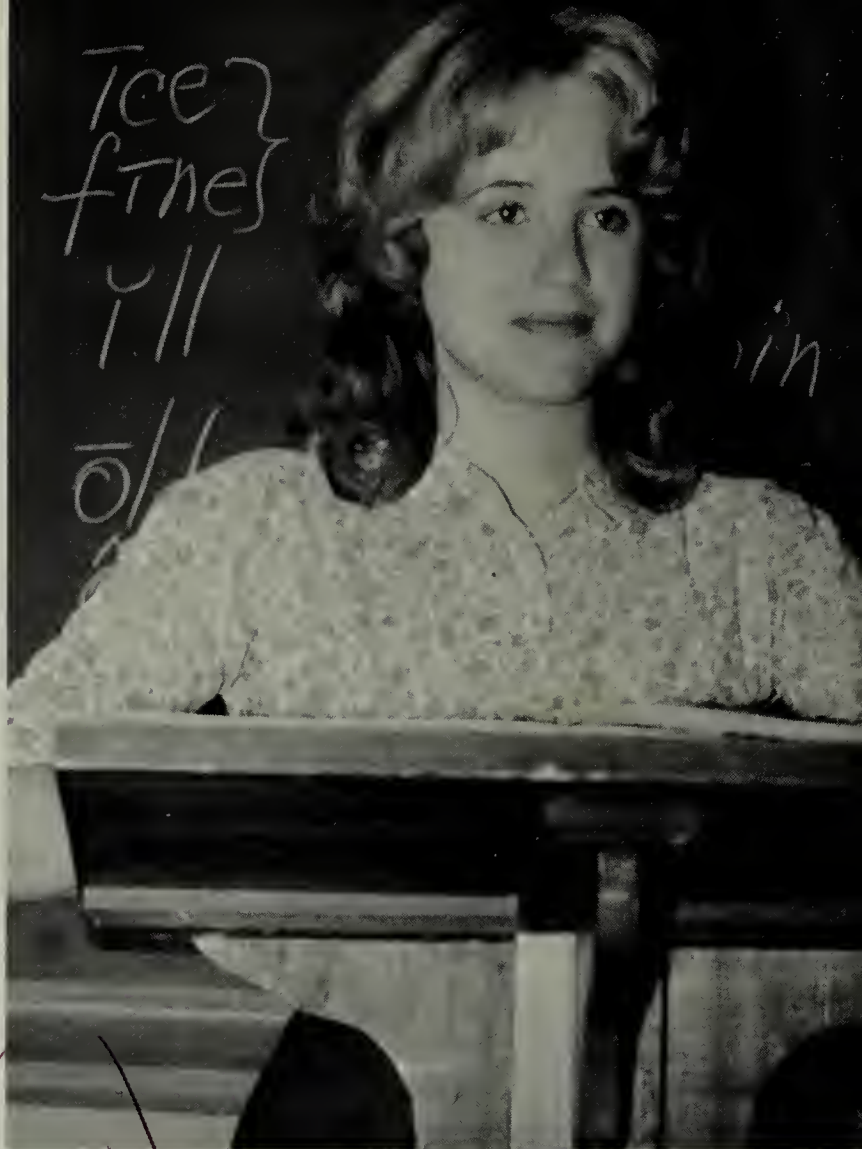

"You think going up was tough!"

"Our own Sputnik!"

HE

The English department aims to build a strong unified program of studies so that during the five years spent in Waynesboro High School each student will have the opportunity to develop his potential ability to use the English language in writing, speaking, reading, and listening. In order to make sure that each student has an opportunity to learn all skills, attitudes, facts and appreciations which he will need either as he goes to college or as he goes into employment from high school, students are given college preparatory, general, or business English. A special effort is made to give each student the type of English skills he will need in his chosen future career. Each teacher is asked to stress specific things on each grade level in order to develop sequence in the five-year program.

"One question!"

English

"Yeeps! Only five more minutes to finish this term paper."

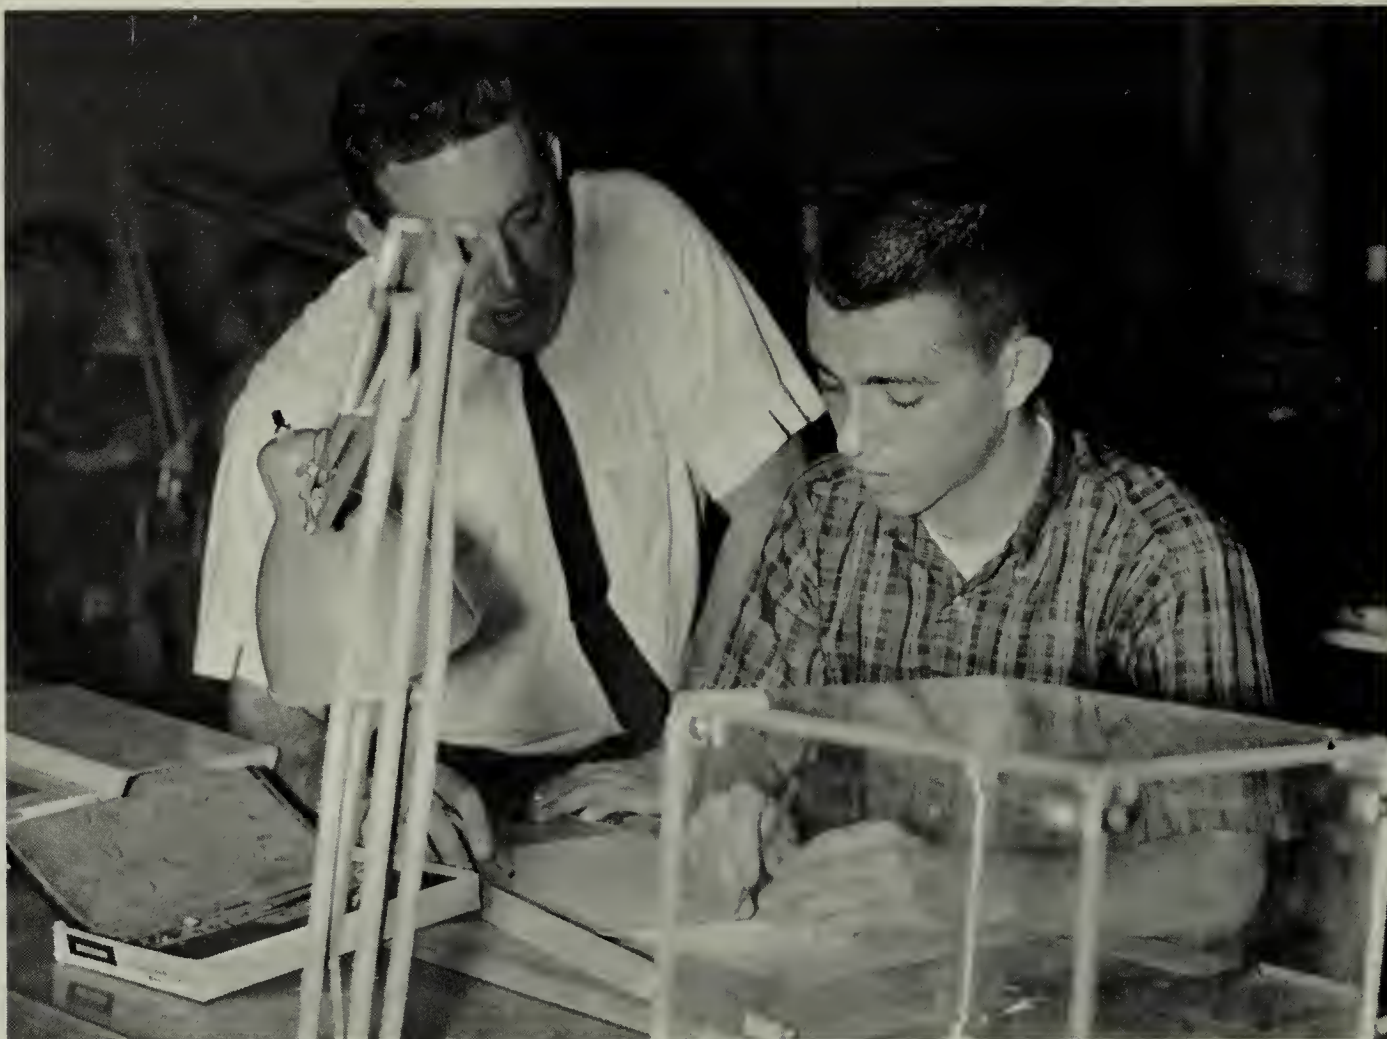

"Parlez-vous francais, Madame?"

Languages

"And they call this the romance language. Ugh!"

The primary objective of the foreign language department is to provide meaningful language learning experiences for those pupils electing to study foreign languages. In order to realize this objective, each pupil is given the opportunity to study a language longer than the traditional two year sequence, thus providing him the means to work in a particular language which allows for depth of study. Within these years of study, experiences are provided in listening and speaking aspects of language learning. As yet, we have no definite statistics to demonstrate the effectiveness of a laboratory except the ease with which pupils accept spoken language and the aid it gives a teacher in presenting new material.

"But Mr. Edwards, I thought you said the Chestnut Avenue bridge."

"I hope my Mommy will like this."

Electives

Waynesboro High School offers many elective courses to increase the students' interests. For those talented in the field of music, band and chorus are offered. While these are electives, they do carry 1/2 credit. Other electives available are shop, arts and crafts, home economics, public speaking, and mechanical and architectural drawing. The home economics department teaches girls the qualities and qualifications of a good homemaker. In mechanical and architectural drawing boys learn the principles of drafting skills. Very well equipped shop and art departments provide all interested students with unlimited skills in creative drawing, metalcraft, photography, clay-molding, and furniture building. Students taking public speaking learn the correct way to address a group. These students also participate in Waynesboro High School Viewpoint, a program broadcast weekly on WAYB.

"Are you sure this is the way Dior got started?"

"Bird, bird, b-bird's the word."

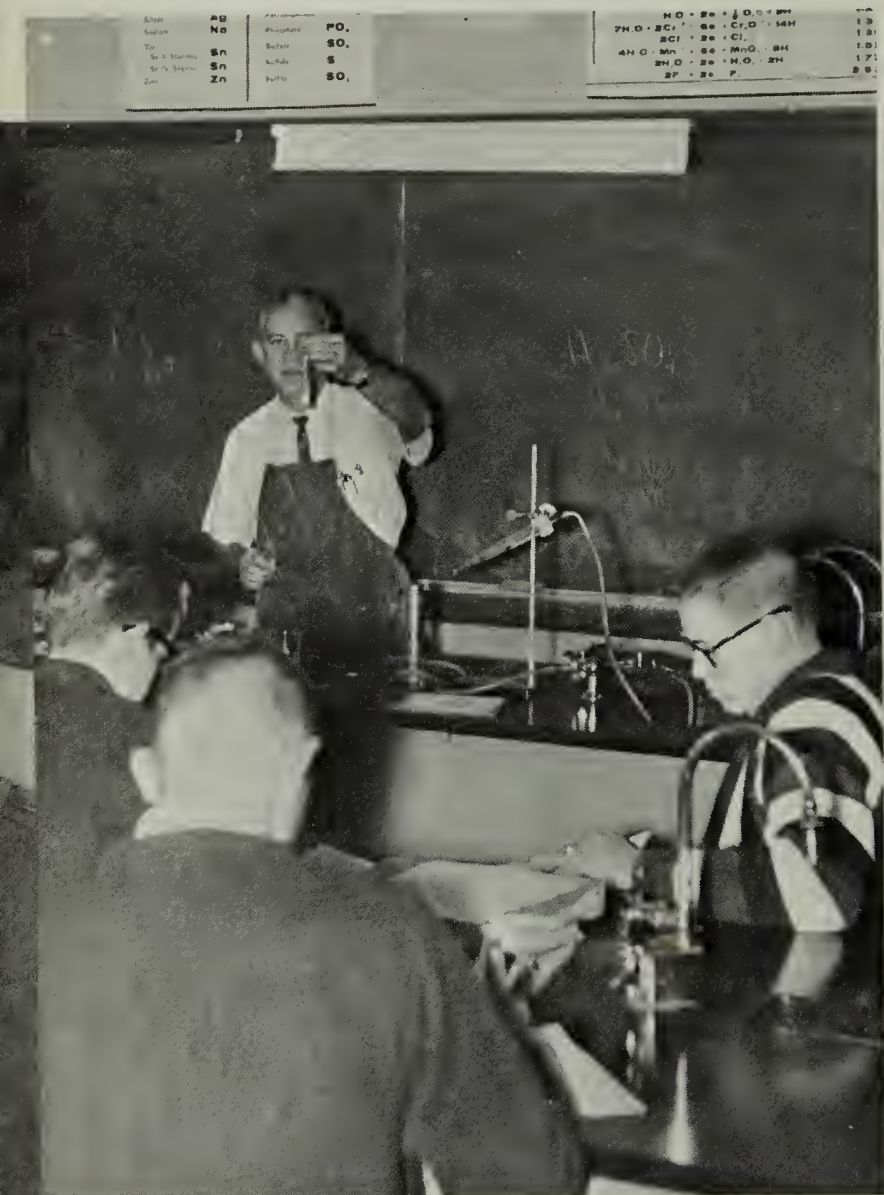

Science

"This is the scientific way to make a Dr. Pepper."

"Keep trying. Maybe there's a pearl in this one."

The science department has been in the process of change and expansion this year. In physics there continues to be two courses. For selected students there is the Physics 10 course. For seniors, the department offers the Physical Sciences Study Committee Physics Course. This course is one of the newer approaches to physics and is taught in only a few school divisions in Virginia. In chemistry there has been an increase in the number of sections, indicating that this area of science is appealing to more students. New emphasis is being placed on laboratory learning, and, when possible, materials from national curriculum studies are used. In biology a new course was added this year. In addition to the academic and general biology that has been taught in the past, a course of study developed by the Biological Science Curriculum Study is being taught.

This year there is an opportunity for all science teachers to work and study together on a departmental basis. Meeting with Mr. Jim Lunger, Science Coordinator, the department has worked in such areas as testing, teacher evaluation, awards and scholarships, science fair and curriculum changes.

"I think I see your error Bill, $2 \times 5 = 10$, not 6."

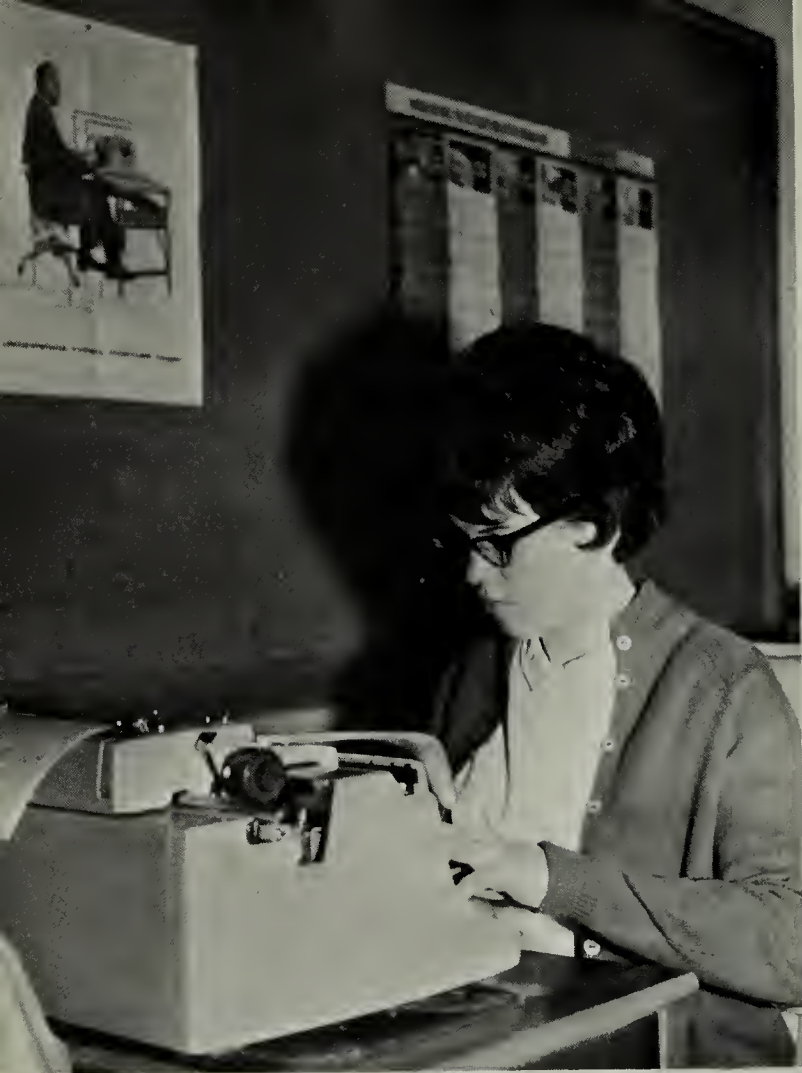

Mathematics

"She loves me, she loves me not, she loves me."

The major objectives of the mathematics department are to provide each student with the mathematics which he will need, to show the necessity of mathematics in everyday living, and to teach enjoyment of the subject as well as understanding. Emphasis is being placed on the modern approach of teaching mathematics. This approach emphasizes the understanding of basic concepts as well as working problems.

A five year program is offered which makes it possible for a student to obtain two years of algebra, plane geometry, solid geometry, trigonometry, analytical geometry, and college algebra. However, for the students who do not choose a five year program, other courses are offered. A course in introductory algebra may be taken before the algebra I course. Courses are also offered in basic mathematics and consumer mathematics.

"Now is the time for all good men to come to thz-z -z-z-z."

The business education department offers courses in basic business, typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, and office practice. Students planning office careers take vocational office training in their Senior year. This is a two credit course in which the student gets one credit for classroom training on office machines, etc. and one credit for part time office work. There is also a course offered in notehand and personal use typing primarily for the benefit of the college bound student.

Distributive Education is a cooperative working arrangement between the school and distributive businesses of the community. In D.E. the student receives classroom instruction directly related to a chosen business occupation in the retail, wholesale, or service fields. While employed part time, the student acquires work experience and receives school credit plus pay. Although the student is paid a wage for hours he spends on the job, income is secondary to training.

Business and Distributive Education

"Two out of every three D.E. students use Coffeemate in their coffee."

Juniors

The Class of '65 had a very busy and successful year. Activities began with the selecting and ordering of our class rings and the anticipation that always follows this event. We devoted much of our time to raising money for our Junior-Senior Prom. Among sources of income were bake sales, held during each of three lunches, and a sock hop that took place after a basketball game. But the highlight of the money raising campaign was the annual Junior Variety Show. Planning started early in the school year, and by April "The Best Variety Show Ever" was ready to be presented. With these proceeds we presented the 1964 Junior-Senior Prom to bring to a close our Junior year, one we can never forget.

After our usual short summer, we the class of '66, returned to W.H.S. Then, as we entered these doors as upperclassmen, we found that the band, chorus and other various organizations occupied the time of many sophomores. Of course, the rest of our time was devoted to our much-loved text books.

We look forward with much anxiety to our rings, the prom and those things that label us as juniors, with hope and pride that we have successfully completed our tasks and responsibilities as the Sophomore Class of '63-'64.

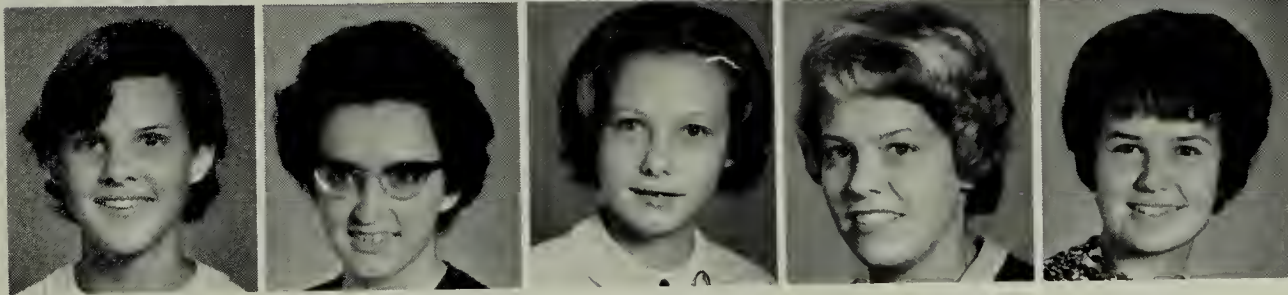

These girls prepare the moon for the highly successful Harvest Dance.

Freshmen

After a year of wet and snowy trips between buildings, the shy, slightly lost eighth graders finally came together under one roof. In spite of the heavier loads of homework and responsibilities, we still managed to squeeze in a wide variety of extra-curricular activities. Among these were band, chorus, sports, clubs, and cheerleaders.

The class of 1967, boasting two hundred and ninety-eight members, started the year with a bang! We sold cookies during the Christmas holidays and won the five-dollar S.C.A. award for the largest attendance at the "Odd Jobs Day" held in November. In early December several of us participated in a test for tuberculosis.

We are looking forward to a prosperous and rewarding three years at Waynesboro High School and would like to sincerely thank the faculty for making us feel so welcome during our first year.

Skyline Staff

Layouts for the sports section required thoughtful consideration.

Charlene McCormick, Editor

Most students don't know what went on every day during sixth period in room 207. If one happened to be walking down the hall, he heard the clicking of typewriters mingled with a general hubbub issuing forth from the room where the 1964 SKYLINE came into being. The staff and Mrs. Reba Brooks did their utmost to make the annual one of the best ever to be published at Waynesboro High School.

Planning for this year's annual was begun in May of 1963 when the staff was formed and the editors of various sections were chosen. Much-needed help and advice were given by Mr. Charles Mott, the American Yearbook representative, who made several visits to the school during the year.

Although many months of hard work left them exhausted, it was a triumphant staff who proudly presented the 1964 SKYLINE to the student body in May.

The Key Club's services to the school and the community don't begin and end with the school year. During the summer the members of this club were busy working with their sponsor club, the Kiwanis Club, by selling drinks at the Junior Olympics and the Soap Box Derby. In the fall they served food at the Kiwanis Barbecue and took part in the peanut sale. The Key Club has served its school by furnishing the faculty cafeteria and lining the football field before all home games. Two members of the club are asked to be present at each of the Kiwanis' weekly meetings. In January the local club was host for the Division Five meeting where nominations were made for the annual state convention. The second annual Sweetheart Dance was held in February, and on March 13, 14, and 15 the members attended the state convention in Richmond.

The GOLD AND PURPLE GLIMPSES is published in THE NEWS-VIRGINIAN on alternate Thursdays throughout the school year. Each issue is a full page devoted to school news, interviews, special features, surveys, creative writing, drawings, and editorials.

As a major project, the staff initiated a campaign to inform students of the bad health effects of smoking. A total of thirty-four seniors were featured in the "Senior Spotlight," and this year's popular anonymously written column, "Dear Regnhild," prepared the future exchange student for the lively atmosphere at W.H.S.

As there is no journalism course offered at W.H.S., each year students learn journalism techniques on their own time by working on the GOLD AND PURPLE GLIMPSES staff.

Future Homemakers of America is the national organization of girls and boys studying homemaking in high school. As an integral part of the homemaking program, F.H.A. provides opportunities for students to have additional experience in planning and carrying out activities related to homemaking. Any student in high school who is taking or has taken a homemaking course may become a member.

The over-all goal of the organization is to help individuals improve personal, family, and community living, now and in the future. The focal point of study for this year was "You and Your Values." Activities geared to the study included guest speakers, filmstrips, and a survey of the values of young people. The F.H.A. sponsored a fashion show, an international dinner, and a Christmas open house. They also served as hostesses at faculty meetings, and at various other school functions.

Future Business Leaders of America is composed of students in the business curriculum who are interested in a business career. The F.B.L.A. is a state and nationally affiliated organization that tries to stimulate and inspire students in their chosen business careers.

The organization on the local level planned educational, financial, and service projects. Men from different fields of business in the community spoke to the group. Bake sales, skating parties, and fund-raising projects were held by the group. They also helped with various service projects such as fixing food baskets for the needy and mailing Christmas seal letters during the Christmas season.

At F.B.L.A. conventions members participated in various contests as well as enjoyed the fellowship with students from other areas. The local club attended the Madison regional meeting in April.

The Student Waynesboro Education Association is an organization composed of students who are interested in exploring the career of teaching. This year the members have had a fourfold purpose: first, to learn about the profession; second, to explore their own interests and abilities in relation to the various fields of teaching; third, to cultivate in themselves the high qualities of personality character, and leadership; and fourth, to learn how and where teachers receive their preparation for future teaching careers.

Projects of the S.W.E.A. this year have been assisting the elementary schools, serving as apprentices to high school teachers, helping in the guidance department, and showing films provided by the VEA.

This year three members attended the state convention in Richmond where Ronald Wright received a nomination for the State Presidency, and Judy Sinclair and Freda Carter took active parts as campaign managers and state recorders. The S.W.E.A. also sponsored Christmas and Leap Year Dances.

Here we are again! I will never forget this class. I sure hope you went to college. I plan to take this summer. Please think of me and my boys and welcome me when I am in college. I said I would but I have in awhile and as I said I would but I have class of 64. Loads of fun & money & Woody.

The D. E. Club consisted this year of forty-eight students. Activities included the district meeting, skating and bowling parties, the employee-employer banquet, and the Christmas banquet. The profits from the Christmas door decorating contest, sponsored by the club, were donated to Operation Santa Claus.

Through active participation in club activities, the student develops better understanding of the business world, becomes conscious of his civic obligations, and develops social poise and leadership ability. The classroom instruction, the on-the-job experience, and the club program are mutually dependent components of a balanced system of training.

Some say that Latin is a dead language, that it perished with the times. But the words and thoughts of great men were written in Latin, and these documents are still alive today. The Latin Club, this year, set out to prove this fact. It was the keeper of the key to a world of ideas locked in a room of language. It sought to enhance the history and legacy of Rome through films and reports, to promote Latin authors in essays and translations, to make acquaintance with social and cultural life by means of a Roman banquet and an assembly program, and to acquire an appreciation of Latin literature and art by translations, reading, and movies.

Mrs. Doris Snyder worked with the members in emphasizing the importance of Latin and the part it plays in the world today.

Students taking Spanish, who were not satisfied with just learning Spanish in the classroom, organized a club whose main purpose was to delve deep into the history, culture, and customs of America's amigos to the south. The Spanish Club, under the leadership of Vincent Binion, stressed the importance of the social and educational development of the students studying Spanish at Waynesboro High.

To have a greater understanding of our Latin American friends, the club presented a program in which a teenage boy from Venezuela talked to the members concerning his native customs, dress, and entertainment.

The members held several bake sales, washed cars, and held a dance in order to raise funds for a trip and other social projects. During the past year the Spanish Club increased the knowledge of the students in the culture and history of the Spanish speaking countries, and gave the members a chance to enjoy social entertainment.

The program included films on make-up, play-reading, the construction of flats, and a speaker on costuming. A trip to the University of Virginia to see the Virginia Players' presentation of Shakespeare's TROITUS AND CRESEDA was both educating and entertaining. Also, the Dramatics Club was invited by the Virginia Players to attend a Drama Workshop.

Under the direction of Mrs. Elaine K. Moss, the Dramatics Club undertook their major task of the year. This was the presentation of Shakespeare's HAMLET for the annual One-Act Play Festival, which was held in Waynesboro this year. Through participation in club activities the members gained experience in acting and a general knowledge of drama techniques.

It is composed of a volunteer group of students who are interested in the library activities of the school. Each member worked in the library one period a day as a student library assistant. It also provided opportunity for one to become more proficient in the use of books in the library, to broaden his personal experience, and to experience satisfaction derived from serving his fellow students.

The National Beta Club is an honor society composed of those juniors and seniors who have maintained a 90 average or better throughout their years in high school. Members must also possess qualities which exemplify good character and responsibility. Last fall the club sponsored the annual Sadie Hawkins dance. This traditional activity was one of the best attended school functions of the year. During March the club was well represented at the state convention in Roanoke. The juniors and seniors that attended brought back the usual tales of an exciting experience. April brought an "Emphasis on Beta Club" week. During this week new members were inducted and a banquet was held. Each six weeks the club posted the names of those students who had made the honor roll. The club begins next year with one of the largest memberships on record.

The purpose of the Wayne Chapter of the National Honor Society is to create enthusiasm for scholarship, to create a desire to render service, to promote worthy leadership, and to encourage the development of character in students of Waynesboro High School. To be eligible for membership a student must be a Senior or an upcoming Senior and must have maintained a ninety-five average throughout his high school career.

This year's chapter, composed of eight members, sponsored its annual assembly during which students from the Junior and Senior classes eligible for membership in the organization were tapped. Among the other activities of the club were the compiling of the Last Will and Testament of the Class of '64 and the participation of all members in the scholarship program available to National Honor Society members.

The Pep Club, under the supervision of Mrs. Maxwell, worked with the cheerleaders and the School Spirit Committee of the S.C.A. to boost the interest of the student body in the sports activities. At the beginning of the school year the Pep Club sponsored the annual Homecoming Dance during which the queen and her court were crowned. Throughout the year committees were formed to decorate the goal posts and put signs and posters up to announce the games. During the basketball season, the Pep Club organized with the cheerleaders to present Pep Rallies. Their bulletin board during December presented an unusual display of the basketball team along with the basketball schedule for that month. Although a great deal was accomplished this year, more could be done next year with the cooperation of a large part of the student body.

The majorette squad received several awards as a result of their participation in the Waynesboro parades and the Staunton Christmas parade. They also took part in the annual Band Day held at the University of Virginia in November.

Chorus

The All-District Chorus, held in Waynesboro this year, was composed of one hundred fifty representatives of twenty-four schools in this part of the state. The out-of-town vocalists were kept in private homes for the weekend of February 14, during which time they attended strenuous rehearsals, which culminated in a concert on February 16. The director of the chorus was Mr. Clarence W. Miller, Jr. from Glassboro State College, Glassboro, New Jersey.

The purposes of the All-District Chorus are many. Qualified high school vocalists are given the opportunity to learn new, challenging music under the leadership of a noted choral director. They make new acquaintances and learn to respect the abilities of others.

The Waynesboro High School Chorus, under the direction of Roger Zimmerman, had an especially active year. In October the group gave an assembly for the student body and on December 16 presented a Christmas concert, which included the debut of a new girls' singing group, the "Z-Ettes." The specially selected Concert Choir made two public appearances in December.

The main project for the year was being host to the All-District Chorus in February. By early spring chorus members were eager to take time off from operetta rehearsals to participate in the District Music Festival in Staunton. The colorful and melodious Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, H.M.S. PINAFORE, was performed in May. In their final appearance of the year, the chorus presented music at graduation.

The S.C.A. has undoubtedly been the most active club in our high school. They have added money to the treasury, encouraged honesty, self-discipline, and school spirit. The first two dances, the sale of decals, and Odd-Jobs Day made a total of $402.00 in the treasury. The S.C.A. provided bus trips to the away games, operated the Novelty Shop, and presented an assembly on honesty. It proposed a new honor system which, although voted down, encouraged honesty and provided the initiative for some members of the student body to work on the project.

The School Spirit Committee has helped to encourage school spirit, and the School Neatness Committee has been responsible for ideas to keep our school clean. In October the S.C.A. sent five members to Natural Bridge to represent W.H.S. at the District Meeting. In the latter part of November the S.C.A. sponsored its annual Operation Santa Claus and raised $280.00. In December the S.C.A. sponsored another dance to raise $50.00 for the basketball blazers. The S.C.A. also selected the adults which form the American Field Service Chapter for Waynesboro. Along with this, it selected a number of students to help the foreign exchange student adjust. Another project was the preparing and mailing of the text books that were shipped to Malaya.

Band

The reputation of Waynesboro High's bands continued to grow this year under the direction of John J. Pickeral, Jr. The band program consisted of the ninth grade Concert Band and the Symphonic Band made up of tenth through twelfth grades. In addition, there were the Little Giant Marching Band and a new group, the Little Giants of Jazz. As the number of musicians grows, the size and number of bands must increase so that all those interested may participate.

Besides performing at the football games, the Marching Band won praise in several local parades and was given an honor position at the annual Band Day held at the University of Virginia. Both the Concert and the Symphonic bands were well-received in the traditional Christmas, winter and spring concerts. The Little Giants of Jazz were a popular addition to the school activities.

A large number of the more accomplished musicians were selected to attend the All-District Band held in Charlottesville in February. The bands received high ratings at the District Festival as rewards for dedicated preparation. All aspects of band activity proved to be highly successful.

Activities

Music was provided by our school combo, the "Weekenders."

With the arrival of each school year, the students of Waynesboro High School eagerly await Homecoming, and this year was no exception. The big moment arrived on October 18, during the half-time of the Buena Vista game, when the queen and her court were announced. Surrounded by the flower girl, Miss Karen Kiger, the crown bearer, Master Ricky Lotts, and her escort, Charlie Diggs, Patsy Vines was crowned Homecoming Queen for 1963.

In her court were seniors, Carol Dedischew, escorted by Tommy Lawler, and Judy Luxton, escorted by Irvin Brewbaker. The underclassmen were represented by Patsy Bell and Wanda Gilbert, Junior Princesses, and Barbara Batten and Lynn O'Donnell, Sophomore Princesses. After the game a dance was given for the queen and her court in the old gym, which was decorated in the traditional gold and purple colors of our school.

Goal posts were decorated in honor of the event.

The band performed during the half time ceremonies.

The happy queen is crowned by Mr. Kiger.

Sadie Hawkins

On November 2, the girls of Waynesboro High School were given the opportunity to capture the man of their dreams and escort him to the annual Sadie Hawkins Dance. The male point of view differed somewhat. Slightly disgruntled, he now had the problem of anxiously awaiting a call and a sweet, feminine voice asking him for a date. But, as the hour of eight approached, the girls started to realize the hardships experienced by the boys. It was quite a frantic operation, from the panicky feeling of losing the car keys to the laborious process of collecting enough money for entertainment afterwards. Despite the mixed sentiments and worries, the students arrived in "Dogpatch" attire to witness the unveiling of the artistic ability of members of the Beta Club, the sponsoring club.

In the corners of the gym there were jungles of cornstalks, straw, pumpkins, and other exquisite decorations. The Sadie Hawkins Court, elected by the students during the previous week, were announced during the dance. The king, Harry Lee Myers, was crowned with a magnificent twenty-five "carrot" crown borne by Master Richard Wilbur and Miss Melinda Lail. By eleven-thirty the girls were quite agreeable to the idea of returning home and letting the boys resume their usual duties.

Miss Red Feather Contest

Each fall a junior girl is selected from a group of eleven to represent the United Fund. Those girls who wish to enter the contest write an essay about the United Fund's contribution to the community. Eleven girls are then chosen with each one representing one of the agencies in the United Fund. Preceding the crowning of Miss Red Feather, the girls participated in a fashion show and the United Fund parade, and attended a tea, and a dinner.

On October 11, during the half time, each girl rode around the football field in a convertible, anxiously awaiting announcement of the winner. Then Miss Gloria Quick was announced as the new Miss Red Feather of 1963-64 and was crowned by the reigning queen, Miss Nancy Thomas. The new queen represented the Waynesboro Children's Council.

Student Teachers

During February and March Waynesboro High School had a large number of student teachers. The eight women and two men came from Madison, Mary Baldwin, and Virginia Polytechnic Institute. The college students were required to work with the experienced teachers and to actually teach the class for a period of eight weeks. The group this year was well accepted and did a very good job with their classes.

Those not pictured are Miss Sara Fitzwater, Miss Ruth Monsch, Mr. Tommy Ellison, and Miss Hope Baldwin.

Winter in Waynesboro

The First Snow

by Garnett Ann Schultz

When the snow falls fast and steady,
in a turbulent delight
And the air is thick and heavy,
with a mass of purest white
All along the streets and highways to the farthest country lane,
Then at last we're very certain that it's wintertime again.

Time for sledding, time for skating,
when a youngster's heart is gay;
Time to live and laugh with winter,
putting summer dreams away.
Be it just a thought to cherish
by your fire or on the go
There is nothing quite as lovely, as the wintertime's first snow.

Senior members of the football team receiving letters were Arnie Doyle, George Buzzard, Robin Hersey, Bobby Beahm, Andy Austin, Bill Walters, and Tom Hoy.

Sports Banquet

Coach Counts and Mr. Williams award George Buzzard the Ruff Man's jacket.

This year, the First Annual Sports Banquet was held in the school cafeteria with Mr. Rex Downey as master of ceremonies. Members of the track, basketball, football, and baseball teams were introduced. A special award was given to George Buzzard on his fine performance during the year's football season, and special recognition was given to the seniors on this year's football squad. Letters were presented to the deserving players.

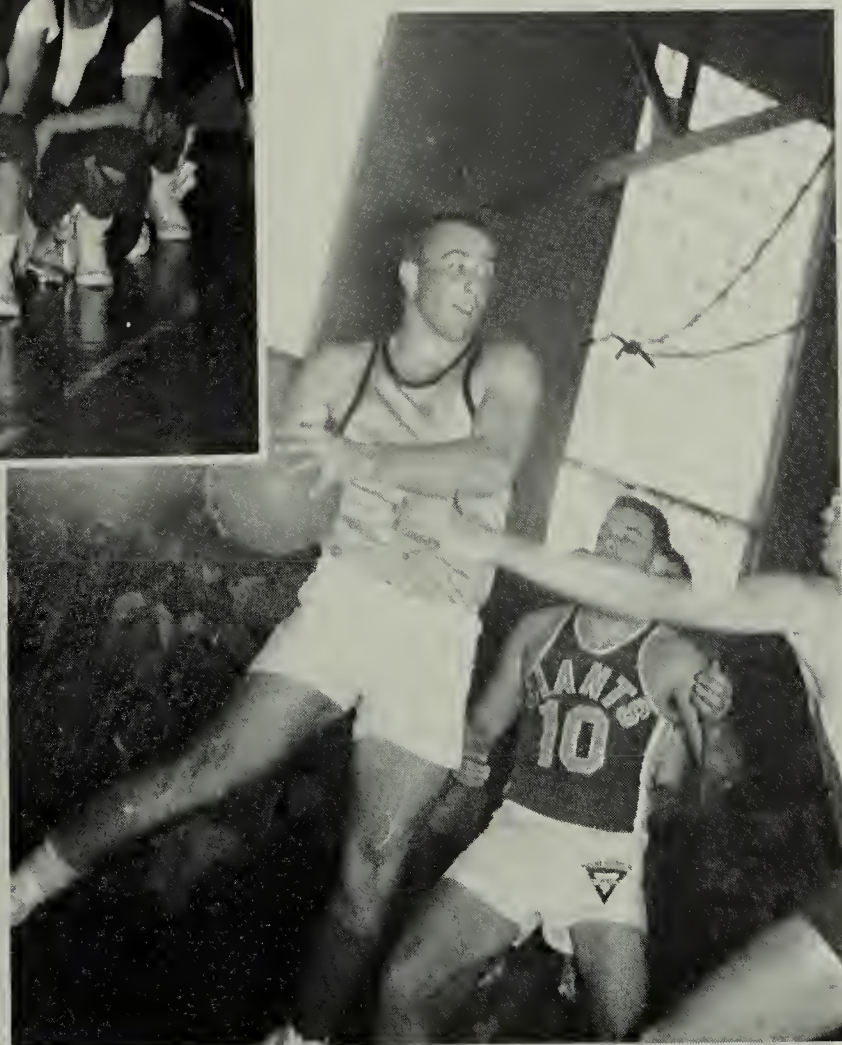

Guest speaker for the evening was Mr. Donald W. Williams, Head Football Coach at Concord College, Athens, West Virginia.

Senior — Faculty Game

Although the faculty won, the senior boys put up a good fight. Here Andy Austin is guarded by Coach Daily and Coach Taylor.

This year's football team, under the new Head Coach, Bill Counts, showed many promising qualities for next year. In addition to Coach Counts, two new assistants were added to the staff. Coach Sherrill Dailey and Coach Wayne Taylor, molded the backfield into one of the hardest running in the district. The interior line, under Coach Meredith Boyd and Coach Counts, developed numerous candidates for All-District honors.

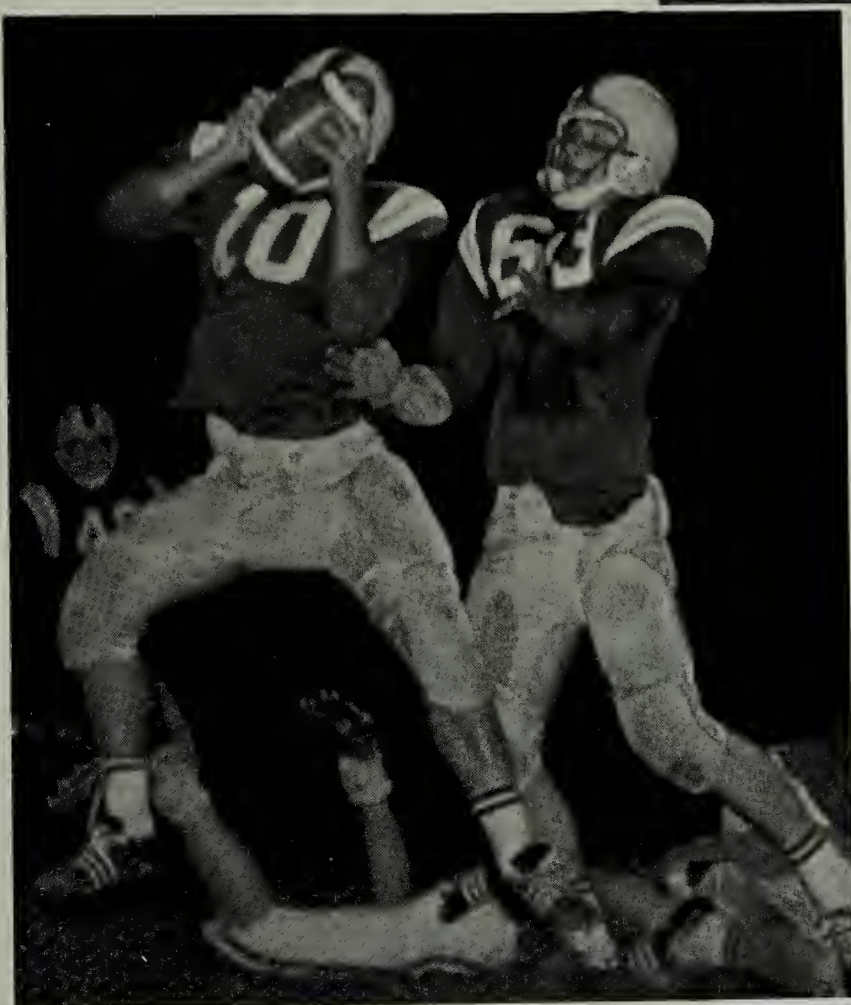

After two games, guard, George Buzzard, sacrificed a probable All-State position and moved to halfback. He was later awarded the Little Giants Ruff Man's jacket for the most effort points at the All-Sports Banquet.

On the whole this season was not a success, but a great deal of experience was acquired for next year's team.

Arnie Doyle makes a head-hunter tackle with Denny Kestner assisting in a big win over Natural Bridge, 25-21.

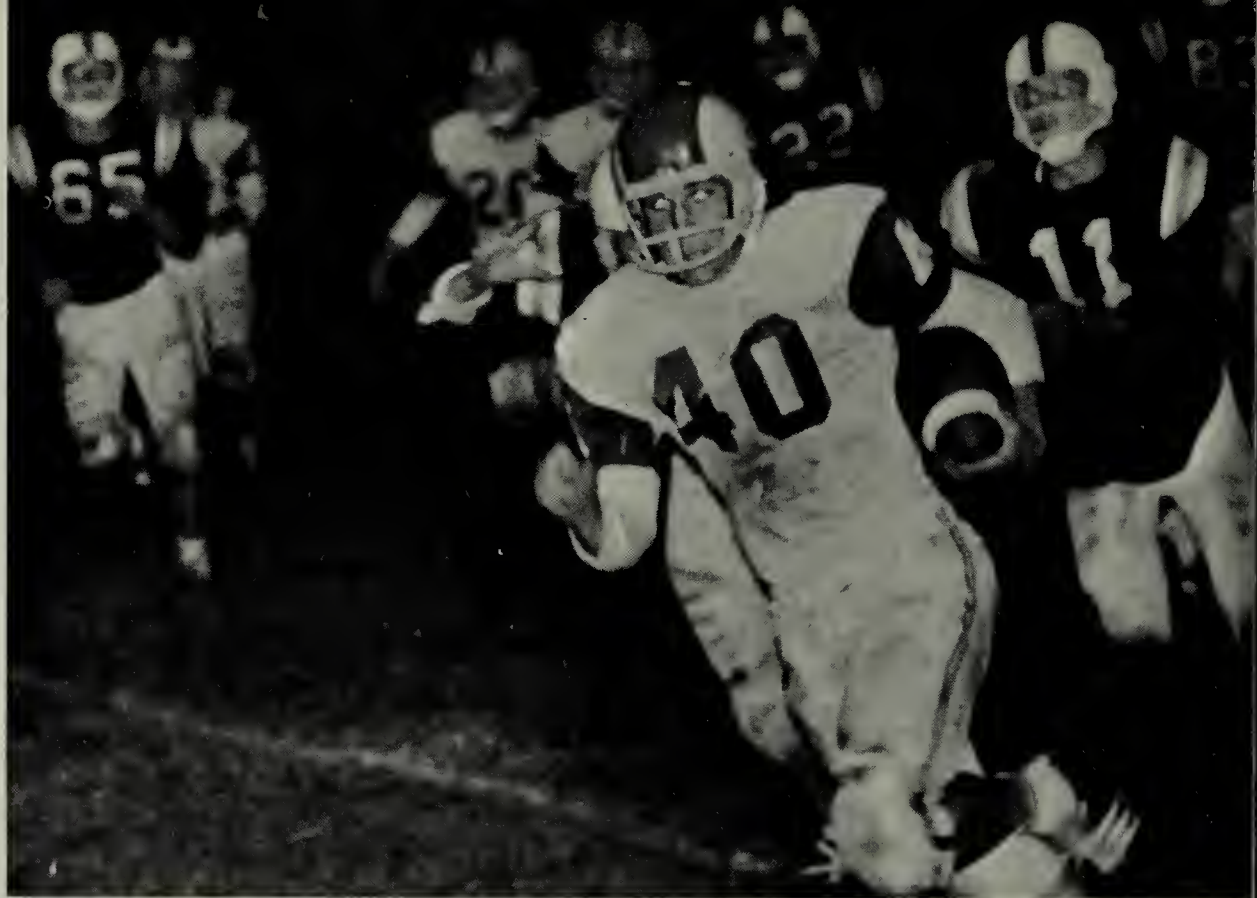

Rennie Dobbins and George Buzzard show great pass defense in a loss to the Green Hornets of Wilson, 26-6.

George Buzzard makes the tackle on Buena Vista's quarterback after a fine effort by Rennie Dobbins. Buena Vista won, 6-0.

Sam Whitlock scores the winning touchdown in the last eight seconds to win over Turner Ashby, 14-7.

Allan Lonas evades two Leeman in a fine gain against the loss to Lee, 47-6.

Robin Hersey stops power play by Broadway in a losing cause to the Gobblers, 20-7.

The Junior Varsity Football team had a very impressive season this year with a record of four wins and one loss. Mr. Lotts, in his third season as Junior Varsity Coach, was much impressed with the determination of his players. He was assisted by backfield coach, Mr. Taylor. The climax of the year was Waynesboro's victory over Lee High School in their encounter.

Before the season began, the Little Giants were picked to finish in either fourth or fifth place. At the final buzzer of the season, Waynesboro had settled in second place, losing the championship game to a much taller Albemarle County quint.

The Giants were helped considerably by senior transfer student, Tom Halpin. He was considered the best floorman in the league. Tinker Moyer's 13.1 average was tops for the squad while Robbie Stover and John Mowen followed with averages of 10.1 and 9.7 respectively. Moyer was picked for first team All-Opponent and Stover for honorable mention. Moyer was also placed on first team All-Tournament, while Jamie Brown and Tom Halpin were placed on the second team.

Though they were defeated in a heartbreaking loss in the championship, the team showed fine sportsmanship.

The 1963-64 season was a prosperous one for Coach Dick Lotts and his Baby Giants. They won sixteen and lost only two, one to Albemarle and one to Lee High.

The team consisted mostly of sophomores: Harry Doms and Bill Bailey as Guards, Gary Robertson as one forward, Rick Ferguson, who later moved up to the varsity, at the center, and Mike Ritz as a back court man. Freshmen in the line up were Wes Meeter at forward and John Luxton at guard. Robbie Gray acted as Manager.

Under the instruction of Coach Lotts, this year's junior varsity team displayed a firm knowledge of basketball fundamentals as well as exhibiting a brilliant defense at times.

These young sharpshooters should lead the Waynesboro varsity squad to successful seasons in the years to come.

Track • 1963

The 1963 track team, under the watchful eyes of Coach Boyd and Head Coach, Lem Fitzgerald, showed great improvement as the season progressed. Although the team was young, it made three impressive wins over Wilson Memorial, Harrisonburg, and Lexington and three close losses to Lee High, Albemarle, and Buena Vista. Coach Boyd's weight men carried most of the load for the track team last year. In all the meets the team was sure to get first and second in the shot and discus. The two boys at the right, Chuck Jeffries and Andy Austin, got two firsts in the district meet. This year's captain, Jeffries, acquired the only place in the state meet. His second place toss of 50 ft. 6 in. in the shot was his best of the year. The other stars who went to the state meet were Wendy Jones (880), George Black (mile), and Harry Lee Myers (pole vault). The 1964 track team should be better because of the experienced trackmen returning.

The Waynesboro High School Boys' Tennis team returned to interscholastic competition in 1963 in the best possible fashion. And the Girls' team followed with a highly creditable performance also. The boys were undefeated in four contests, while the girls were victorious twice in six encounters.

Virginia Everett and John Thrift were at the top of their respective team leaders in leading the most recent addition to the athletic program to such fine exhibitions. Other members of the girls' team were A. Bush, R. Hyman, A. Tichenor, P. Part-ridge, S. Oas, A. Henson, C. Block, and J. Suddarth.

Included on the boys' team were E. Mead, D. Menaker, J. Brown, B. Driscoll, M. Seward, G. Stuart, J. Broadfoot, and T. Snell.

The 1964 Little Giant Boys' Tennis Team will have every letterman returning. Only one veteran of the girls team graduated in 1963 so both groups should make a good showing this year.

Golf • '63

Waynesboro High School's 1963 Golf Team was the District Champion for the second consecutive year with a 6-3 record. The team got off to a slow start with a surprising loss to Harrisonburg. After much practice and hard work, the team progressed steadily until they won the Valley District Tournament with a four-man team consisting of John Mowen, Larry Pope, Tinker Moyer, and Pat Daugherty.

The individual matches were played with six-man teams whose members were chosen on the basis of their performance and improvement in practice.

Sam Whitlock, First Baseman

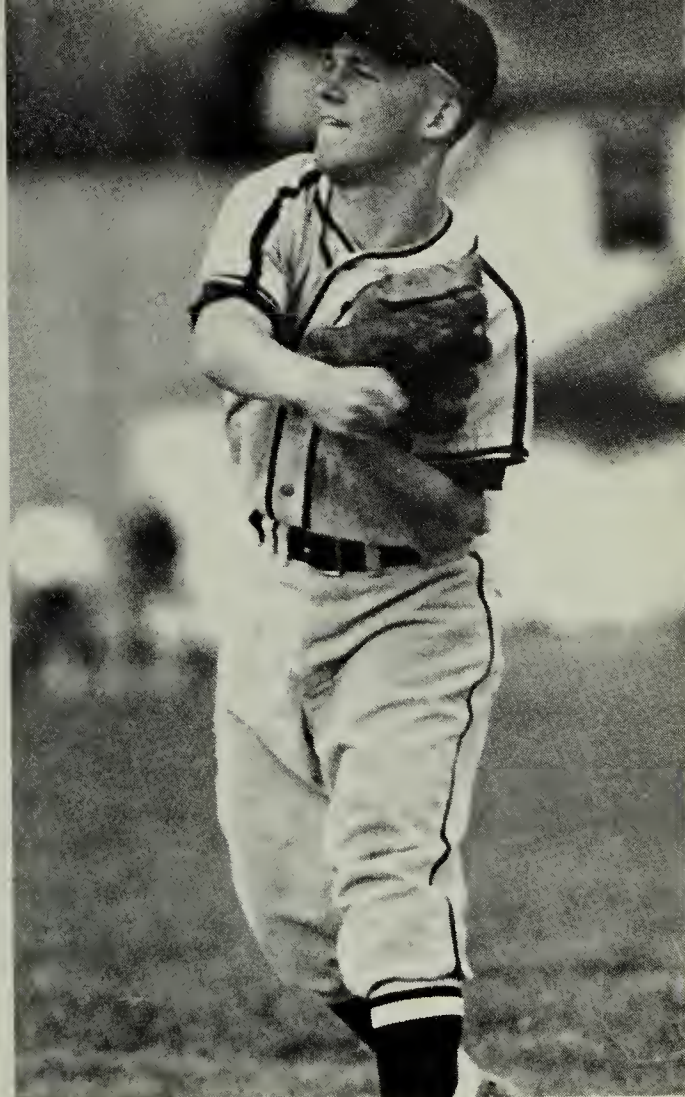

The Little Giant's 1963 Baseball Squad had a reasonably successful year ending the season with seven victories and five defeats. Although Waynesboro gained much experience, the loss of Terry Smith, Randy Snyder, Tommy Rannie, and Ernie Phillips will probably affect the team in 1964. Arnie Doyle and Sam Whitlock, who played outstanding ball, are expected to be the Giant's strongest players.

In 1964 the coaching staff will consist of head coach, Bill Blosser, and infield coach, Wayne Taylor, who played on the Concord College baseball team. With the return of last year's second team, the Little Giants can expect a successful season in 1964.

This year's Girls' Varsity and Junior Varsity Basketball teams were again coached by Mrs. Reynolds and managed excellently by Patsy Snider, Sallie Jo Guess, and Jane Chalkley. The season started out slow with both teams losing their opening games. But after the first upsets, they were determined to make a comeback and tried to do so against Albemarle and Lexington coming within only a few points of winning. The effort on Waynesboro's part continued throughout their season but with no victorious outcomes. Even though the varsity squad lost Pam Partridge, the main scorer on the team, and Ann Bush and Anne Tichenor, two outstanding guards, most of the starting lineup, will return for what we hope will be a most successful year in 1964.

Ann,

Don't forget all the fun we had in English class. Remember all the nasty things we did to poor Galt. Have fun this summer and come to see me. You live near me so come over! Be good.

Well, Ann, as I was saying before I was so rudely interrupted. I know the notebook doesn't leave me much to say but ~~anyway~~ ^{anyway}. I know neither of us will forget much of what has happened this year. Just think, next year this time we'll be saying our farewells, thank heavens. Remember the Variety Show, "my mama done told me"; and dear George and that mean Chevy. Needless to say you'll never forget all those I challenged and won or lost.

Ann,
I have enjoyed
knowing you this year.
Lots of luck in the years to come.
"Chick"

I'll never forget the times we've double dated and the dumb stuff
we've done, especially in Chorus and all the trouble
we got into during French and English, dear "Nampy-pook."

I guess our notebooks covers everything thoroughly. Thanks for all that advice you handed out, free, unasked for or otherwise, just kidding. No, you really have been a great friend and I'm glad we became so close - no not queer or anything.
I'll always remember the time we both decided to fool the school and collect class rings from Claude & Weaver.
And I'll never ever forget the Variety Show. This has really been a swinin' year, thanks to people like you, and one that would be hard to forget. Ann
Please be good, my last request. Becky (Snacker)

Had a 2-24 message. I got a letter from you in mid of the school year. I'll never forget it. I'll never forget the time we both decided to fool the school and collect
class rings from Claude & Weaver.
And I'll never ever forget the
Variety Show. This has really
been a swinin' year, thanks to
people like you, and one that
